Gov. Lodge Replies On 'Nepotism'

Answers Mitchell's
Charge by Citing
Hiss Brothers' Case

CPYRGHT

Gov. Lodge Tuesday threw back the charge of "nepotism" at Democratic National Chairman George A. Mitchell saying it had been evidenced years ago when the brothers, Alger and Donald Hiss were both working for the Democratic Party.

In a statement Tuesday the Governor answered Mitchell's charge the Eisenhower administration was practicing nepotism on a grand scale. Nepotism is the practice of appointing jobs on the basis of family relationships. In a speech Monday Mitchell said President Eisenhower's brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, had been employed for a special Latin American mission; that Gen. Herbert Brownell's brother, Samuel Brownell, had been named U. S. Commissioner of Education; and that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' brother, Allen Dulles, had been made head of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Mitchell said he would not be surprised if Gov. Lodge, a brother of U. N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., also left his state post to take a job with the Eisenhower administration.

In his statement, Gov. Lodge defended the work of the committee by Mitchell. He said nothing is new, however, since his
